

Binti eats a banana

Binti is sitting at the kitchen table.
She is wearing her pyjamas.
It is still early. Really early.

Look, there's the moon.
And it is raining.

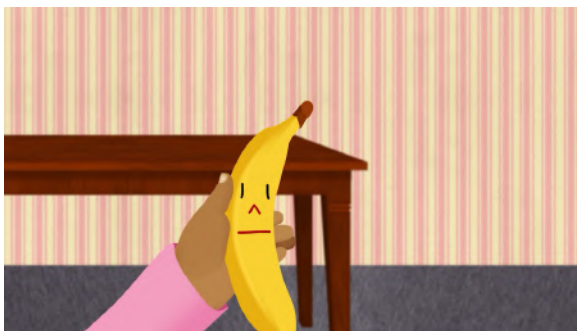

Binti sucks her thumb.
Binti is hungry.
Really hungry.
There is a banana on the table.

Binti smells the banana.
Does it smell good, Binti?
Yummee! It smells like a banana!
Binti licks the banana.
Poopoopedoo. I'm gonna eat you!

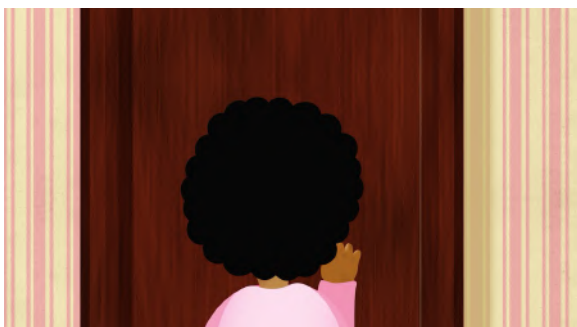

No stop, Binti. Don't eat the banana.
You have to wait for Mummy.
What now, Binti?
Let me think. I know!
Binti takes out her markers.
The black marker and the red marker.

Look! Look what I can do!
Binti draws two black eyes on the banana.
And a red nose. And a red mouth.
Is that difficult, Binti?
No, that is not difficult.
All done!

Now you have two eyes, a nose and a mouth.
She puts the banana on the chair.
Sit still! she says to the banana.
The banana sits still.

Binti goes to Mummy's bedroom.
She knocks on the door. Get up, Mummy!
There is a banana sitting on the chair.
It has two eyes, a nose and a mouth.

Mummy gets up.
Look, Binti says.
She shows the banana to Mummy.
Can I eat the banana?
Yes, says Mummy.
You can eat the banana.

Yummee! says Binti.
And she eats the banana.