

Binti finds a baby bird

Binti and Mummy are outside.
The sun is shining.
Is it nice outside?
Yes! It is nice and warm outside.

Look, Mummy, a tree.
The tree has green leaves.
The leaves are moving in the wind.

A car drives past.
The door of the shop says ting!
But Binti hears something else.
Who is that, squeek squeek squeek?

Binti goes to the tree.
Under the tree, she finds a baby bird.
Look, Mummy, a baby bird.
It says squeek squeek.

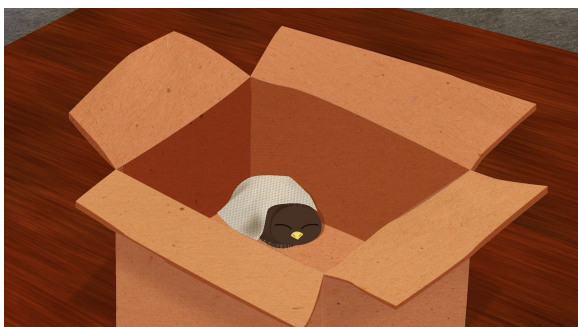

Mummy has a look.
It must have fallen out of its nest.
Poor baby bird.
What now, Binti?

She picks up the baby bird.
Can I take the baby bird home, Mummy?
Yes, you can.
We will look after it, Mummy says.

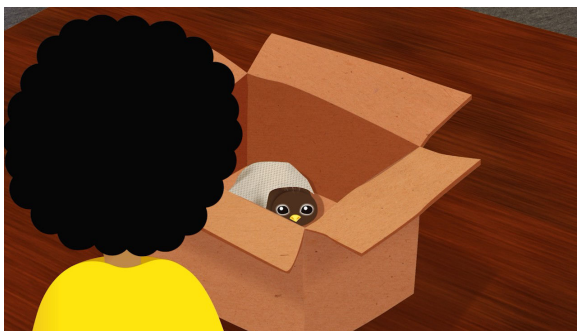

Mummy and Binti go back home.
They put the baby bird in a box.
Squeek squeek, it says!

Are you cold, baby bird?
Binti takes a paper tissue.
There, to keep you warm.

Are you thirsty?
Binti puts some water in the box.
Is the baby bird going to die?
I don't know, Mummy says.

The best thing is to keep it nice and warm.
I'll sing a song for the baby bird.
Binti sings a beautiful song.
The baby bird opens its eyes.
Hello baby bird, hello!
