

Boris blows bubbles

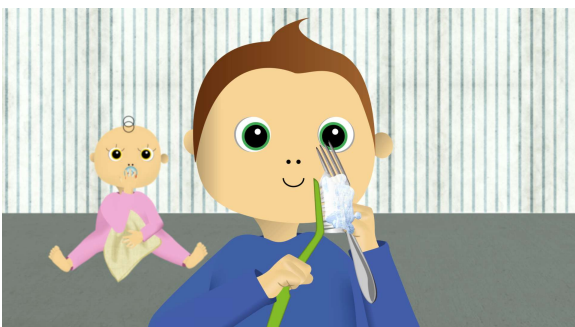

Boris is standing at the sink.
Are you going to do the washing up?
Yes, I am going to do the washing up.
I like washing up.

In the sink, there are a spoon and a fork.
Is washing up difficult?
No, it is not difficult.

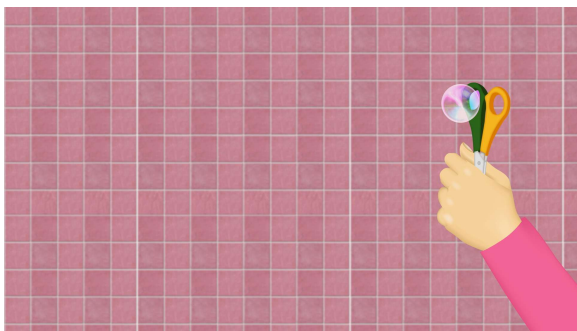

Boris takes the bottle of soap.
He squeezes the soap into the sink.
The soap is green.
Boris turns on the tap.

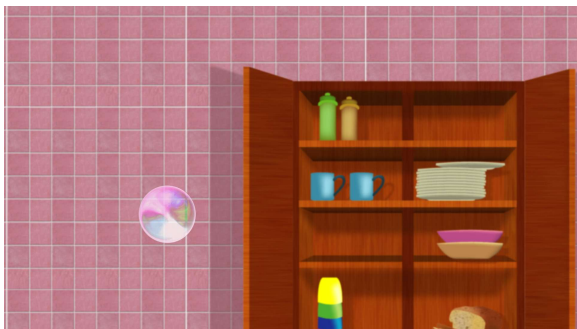

He washes up the spoon.
He puts the spoon next to the sink.
Then he washes up the fork.
He puts the fork next to the sink.

Look at all the bubbles in the sink!
 Boris blows and blows.
 Look, Mummy, bubbles!
 What now, Mummy?

Mummy takes a pair of scissors.
 She dips the scissors in the bubbles.
 Mummy blows.

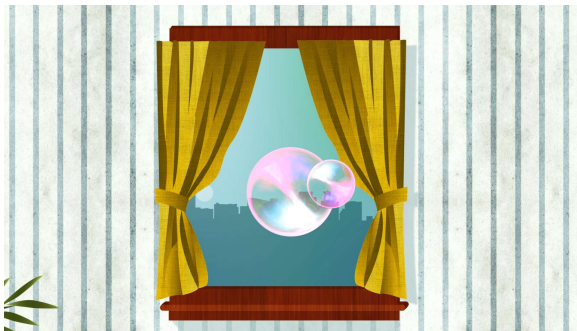

A bubble flies through the kitchen.
 Look, Boris! says Mummy. Look at the bubble.
 Then, the bubble goes poof!
 The bubble is gone.

Now me! Boris shouts.
 Mummy gives the scissors to Boris.
 There is a rubber band round the scissors.
 Boris dips the scissors in the bubbles.

He blows two bubbles.
He blows a big bubble and a small bubble.

They fly through the kitchen.
The fly to the window.
Poof! The bubbles are gone.
