

Boris in the snow

Boris is looking through the window.
What does he see?
White fluff, falling from the sky.
That, is snow.
Yes! Snow!

Mummy is watching television.
Mummy, I'm going outside.
To make a snowman!

Boris puts on and woolly hat and his scarf.
The snow is white, soft and cold.

Boris makes a ball of snow.
He rolls the ball over the pavement.
The snow sticks to the ball.
The ball of snow gets bigger and bigger.
All done!

Now, Boris rolls another ball.
He puts it on top of the first ball.

All done!

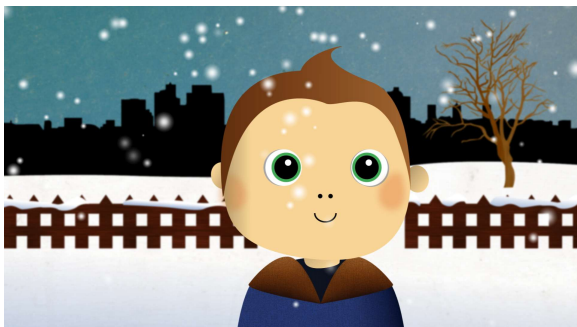

Boris gives the snowman
his woolly hat and scarf.

And two black pebbles.
They are the snowman's eyes.

Boris draws the mouth.

All done!

Hello snowman, Boris says.
Where is my nose? the snowman says.

I need a nose!

What now, Boris?

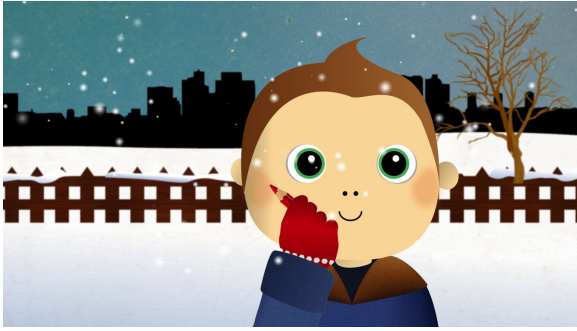

Boris looks in his pockets.

He finds a sweet.

No, a sweet is not a nose.

He finds a coin.

No, a coin is not a nose.

He finds a crayon. It is a red crayon.
Yes, that's a good nose.
Here you are, a nose for you.

Thanks, the snowman says.
A red crayon is the best nose of all.
